The Board of Selectmen went on record Monday as approving the use of electronic voting equipment in Andover elections, a step required by new state law. Town Meeting authorized an appropriation for purchase of such equipment in advance of Legislative action clearing use of electronic as well as mechanical voting devices.

The senior high school building committee and the School Committee will tour the new building Saturday to observe construction progress.

Town Manager Richard Bowen is speaking to an assembly at Phillips Academy Friday covering the following topic: The profile of a City or Town Manager; the Problems of Urban America as a City Manager Sees Them; and Where does the Small Community Stand in Relation to These Problems?

'Vale Wells Shut Down Because Of Ore Deposits

Confronted with the possibility that Andover may have to get along permanently without two of the three wells that augment the town's major reservoir, the Board of Selectmen has authorized Manager Richard Bowen to determine what sort of filtration plant must be constructed to handle purification of river water for the municipal supply and bring in estimates for the cost of construction.

The board made its request after Bowen announced publicly that two wells in Ballardvale have been inactive since August because of the heavy content of iron and manganese in the water they were producing. The manager said that if the condition persists, which appears likely, it could cost as much as $200,000 to install equipment for eliminating the condition. In addition, there would be annual expenses for operation.

The manager explained that heavy deposits of iron and manganese apparently collected in the area of the wells during the five years of drought experienced here, penetrating the strata from which water was being drawn. The full flow of water this year has exaggerated the condition.

Bowen said news of problems with the wells had not been publicized before because he didn't want the public unduly alarmed, and because officials wanted to make a thorough study of the possibilities. Hope was held initially that nature would correct the condition as water was drawn off, but so far this has not been the case.

The manager presented the board with four alternatives:

- The town can ignore the problem and hope that it will go away.
- It can shut the two wells down permanently and hope that Haggitt's Pond, the Abbott well and Fish Brook will remain full enough to meet demands for some time to come.
- It can install equipment to filter the ore-laden water.
- Or it can consider abandon-

Special Meeting Scheduled

The Selectmen have scheduled a Special Town Meeting for 8 p.m. Nov. 13 in Memorial Auditorium at Andover Junior High School.

The warrant will open at 10 a.m. on Thursday, Oct. 26 and close the same day at 4 p.m.

Among major items to be considered will be acquisition of land adjoining West School to enlarge that site to approximately 30 acres, making room for the 24-room addition voted at the last special meeting.

Also in the warrant will be articles left hanging when the summer TM was adjourned abruptly for lack of a quorum. These include: $20,000 for the depleted snow removal account; $1500 for a contract with the MBTA to continue train service to Andover; and $180,000 for continued work on the reconstruction of Rogers Brook.

The Selectmen will meet Monday, Oct. 23 to discuss warrant articles proposed by the administration.

40-Hour Week Negotiated By BPW Union

Town Manager Richard Bowen and negotiators for the AFL-CIO local representing employees of the public works department have come to terms on a contract for 1968, agreeing to a 40-hour week.

The men now work a 45-hour week.

Reporting to the Selectmen on progress with negotiations, Manager Bowen said the present 45-hour policy is not defensible. "Frankly, I find it hard to understand how the town has been able to get away with it this long..." Bowen said.

He added that union officials had requested the shorter work week become effective Jan. 1, but had agreed to accept a later effective date when the manager explained that he would not have funds to cover the increased cost to the department until after adoption of the 1968 budget.

IRS Methods Awe Germans

German tax accountants visiting the IRS North Atlantic Service Center here Tuesday told officials that there are a good many "astounding" things about the U. S. tax system, but perhaps the most astonishing of all is the amount of paperwork required of the average taxpayer.

The spokesman for 16 consultants, representatives of an organization of 200,000 members, commented after a day of observation at the data processing center which serves the six New England states and New York.

Hubert Moeckershoff, president of the accountants' association, told IRS Director Norman E. Morrill he and his fellow travelers were most impressed by three things:

- The fact that the federal tax agency does not correspond with most taxpayers to let them know that they are all clear, communicating only if there is trouble.
- The short span of time it takes with data processing to determine whether or not a taxpayer is square with the government.

- And the great responsibility the taxpayer has for preparation of his own return.

Moeckershoff explained that since most income taxes in Germany are collected through payroll deductions, considerably fewer citizens have to file a return at all. Those who do, use the services of tax experts such as those traveling with the visiting group.

Through an interpreter, the German accountant reported that citizens of his country pay taxes at about the same rate of those in the United States and that the tax structure is actually quite similar.

Carbon monoxide poisoning is the favorite method of suicide in the U. S.

Perhaps the best way to study our own habits is to study other women. At least in this way we can decide what we approve of and what we don't. And then we can apply these standards to ourselves, to the best of our ability. You may be appalled by a woman who pops her eyes seven times and waves her arms wildly in the course of simply telling you what she had for dinner last night. Go a step further and say, "Heavens, do I ever do that, or go in for any other kind of exaggerated and meaningless gesture?" And this is a very good criterion for judgment. Gestures, or any other mannerisms, to be attractive must have meaning, and must impart some truth about you! We are seldom aware of such idiosyncrasies... still we must act and speak in a becoming way. We must also try to look becoming... and that is how it will be when your hair is styled at CAPILO HAIR STYLISTS, 2 Riverina Rd., Shawsheen-Andover. Tel. 475-1639. Summer Discovery

Pike Broadens Young Horizons

This past summer at Pike School, 40 young children raced through the fields collecting bits and pieces of nature and stopping in their journeys to notice things they might never have noticed without guidance from a staff trained to stimulate the awareness of a lively group of Young Explorers.

Mixed into this group were eleven disadvantaged children. One was a boy from Ecuador who learned to speak English during the six weeks at Pike. Another was a bright, alert, lovely-to-look-at Puerto Rican girl, one of eight children, the daughter of an alcoholic father. Some were Negro.

These youngsters learned and played along side children from a variety of Andover backgrounds, mingling cultures in a way that is not possible through programs such as Headstart which are arranged specifically for culturally deprived children. Out of their inhibited school friendships grew a handful of social experiences that were as broadening for the disadvantaged as the disadvantaged. Mrs. Richard Hornidge, director, reports that some parents in fact, sent their children to Young Explorers just so they would have an opportunity to learn about people from other environments under favorable conditions.

The purpose of the Pike School

YOUNG EXPLORERS at Pike School learn about textures and how to observe the beauty that is all about them. (Graber) summer program, as explained by the director, is to "awaken in children an appreciation and awareness of nature and to develop an understanding of all living things." "We continue to feel," says Mrs. Hornidge, "that children gain something of tremendous value as they develop their sense of wonder, their excitement of discovery and their love of the outdoors."

In addition to experimenting in a natural "laboratory", Pike's summer children participated in a music program that was directly related to the nature study. They played percussion instruments in a rhythm band, expressed themselves in short periods of free dance and worked off their competitive energies with singing games.

This facet of the exploration was directed by Mrs. Roy Scott who was educated in Germany at the Froebel Seminar in Stuttgart where she was trained specifically for teaching preschool boys and girls. Instructing the creative arts was Mrs. Alan K. Porter, who trained at the Rhode Island School of Design and at deCordova Museum. She describes the purpose of the art instruction offered Young Explorers this way: "My real objectives in teaching creative art to children is to help them develop self-satisfying ways to express their individual inner feelings and ideas. The delights of their own unique creations and the sharpening of their powers of observation, awareness and appreciation of beauty are equally important. Manual dexterity and careful craftsmanship are by-products."

Working with the professional staff were several young apprentices, all of them interested in social work or some sort of work with children. In the group from Andover were Jameson French, Claudia Comins, Francine Amore and Chris Boshar. Towards the end of the session, they were involved with program planning and their performance was evaluated by the staff.

What does a summer at "bug school" have to do with preparing the young for the beginnings of their formal education?

Primarily, it sharpens their wits. They learn to observe the world instead of just racing through it; they learn to express themselves in telling of their outdoor discoveries; they learn to think creatively and produce minor works of art, they learn to function as part of a group; and they begin to learn the discipline of counting and remembering facts.

For those who attend the school on scholarship, there is an opportunity for the further broadening of horizons. Mrs. Hornidge reports that two youngsters who showed ability in previous summers have been granted nine-year scholarships for an education at Pike.

Reception Is Arranged

Mrs. Cyril M. White of Andover is one of four co-chairmen for the committee planning the President's Reception for Oct. 29 at Merrimack College.

Mothers of incoming freshmen will be invited as guests of Rev. Vincent A. McQuade, MC president.

Others from Andover active on the committee are: Mrs. Walter J. Anderson, Mrs. Phillip A. Costello, Mrs. William A. Doherty, Mrs. Joseph Duffy, Mrs. Frank Lucy, Mrs. John B. McAllister, Mrs. James A. McGraw, Miss Mary Ford, Mrs. Phillip Gangi, Miss Marguerite Halloran, Mrs. David J. Minahan, Mrs. Francis J. Mulcahy, Mrs. Dario Pepe, Mrs. Guido Pitochelli, Mrs. Julia Radwill, Mrs. Rita Sequin and Mrs. Louis Vallante.

Most people can stand tragedy but few can master the small irritations of life.

PA Council Discusses Counseling

Last weekend the Andover Alumni Council held its annual fall meeting on the Phillips Academy campus, this year to focus on the counseling of students, a subject which has received close scrutiny in the recently published faculty steering committee report and also during the Andover-Exeter counseling seminars, the second of which was held last month in Andover.

Council members and their wives, class agents, faculty, and a group of PA seniors were included in the weekend program which began Friday evening with an address by Headmaster John M. Kemper on "The Purposes of Counseling at Andover". He was followed by Dean of Students John Richards II who discussed "The Process of Counseling at Andover", and finally by Dr. Stanley King of the Harvard Health Service who spoke on "What is Counseling?"

Saturday morning the group reconvened to continue its consideration of the basic theme of counseling and discipline in the educational process by hearing Professor Kenneth Keniston of Yale's psychology department speak on "The Student's Search for Responsibility". The audience then broke up into small discussion groups to consider specific case studies involving problems in counseling and discipline. Alumni and faculty seminar leaders included Messrs. Barnum, Fleming, Ratte, Richardson, Spencer, Steadman, Kaiser, Owen, Pease, Richards, Roehrig, Whyte, Kemper and Weaver.

Following the group meetings, the council gathered again to discuss general questions raised during the seminars. The formal session of the Alumni Council then ended with a brief business meeting of reports from Alumni Fund Chairman William C. Quinby and class secretaries.

Andover Girls Are "Frauleins"

Two Andover girls are members of a teen musical group called the Frauleins which is making a reputation for itself in New England with appearances at Dartmouth College, various prep and high schools, clubs and discotheques.

Michelle Ferreira, the group's vocalist, is a senior at Andover High School where she is a member of the Glee Club and the A Capella Choir. Michelle has been appearing at concerts and recitals since she was five years old.

The Frauleins' drummer is Lynda MacLeish who is a resident of Andover and a freshman at Northern Essex Community College in Haverhill.

Together for about 18 months, the musical group first played together for a birthday party. Since that their popularity has led to the cutting of a record on the Onyx label.

Recipes For Tricky Halloween Treats

Goblins, witches, and other spooky little creatures will soon be ringing doorbells asking, "Trick or Treat?"

Two quick and easy treats for these costumed "beggars" are nut brittle and walnut peneuche. And while you're busy making these delightful Halloween candies, your children can create their own special witch decoration using an empty sugar box following the directions below.

Nut Brittle

2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup chopped peanuts (or substitute cashews, walnuts, pecans, almonds, etc.)

Melt sugar in a saucepan, stirring constantly. When sugar is a light brown syrup, add chopped nuts all at once and beat in quickly. Immediately pour onto a buttered baking sheet. Let cool and then break into bite-sized pieces. Makes one pound.

To give it that Halloween look, wrap several pieces together in colored cellophane for individual sized giveaways.

Walnut Peneuche

1/2 cup butter
1 cup light brown sugar, firmly packed
1/4 cup milk
2 cups sifted confectioners sugar (or substitute dark brown sugar)
1 cup chopped walnuts

Melt butter in saucepan, add brown sugar. Cook over low heat 2 minutes, stirring constantly. Add milk and continue cooking and stirring until mixture boils. Remove from heat. Cool. Gradually add confectioners sugar until mixture is of fudge consistency. Add nuts. Spread in buttered 8" x 8" x 2" pan. Cool. Makes 36 pieces.

For "trick or treat" bags, wrap candy in foil.

Sugar Box Witch

The little boys or girls in your life will have fun creating their own sugar box witch. All it takes is an empty sugar box, some construction paper, a pencil, a pair of scissors, and cellophane tape or glue.

To make the Halloween witch, first, cut a piece of construction paper large enough to wrap around the bottom part of the box up three-quarters of the way. Cut a second piece of paper in a different color for the face covering the remainder of the box. Cut a triangle to fit the bottom front of the box.

Cut a square of black paper larger than the top of the box for the hair. Paste on top of the box and then cut paper to the edge of box into thin strips to make the witch's hair.

To form the witch's cape, cut

NUT BRITTLE and walnut peneuche are quick and easy to make for Halloween handouts. And your children can make a witch decoration out of the empty sugar box.

another piece of paper to fit around the back and sides of the box. Cut the sides down at an angle and let it stand out from the box. Cut small pieces to make hands and paste at edge of triangle. Draw a face on the box.

Make a cone out of black paper for the witch's tall hat. For her broom, wrap yellow construction paper or crepe paper around the end of a pencil several times and tape it to the pencil. Then cut the paper in tiny strips as for her hair. Tape the broom onto her hand.

With other sugar boxes, you can make Halloween companions for your witch.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL

A 25-yard pass from Wally Boland to Mike Sadowski set up the Central Colts for their first touchdown and an 18-0 victory over the West Andover Packers this week in Andover Junior Football League play. Boland carried the ball to score.

Elsewhere in the League, the Shawsheen Patriots won a 14-7 victory over the Ballardvale Browns.

During the second quarter of the Colts-Packers game, Jeff Mower intercepted a pass and scored the second TD. In the third period, Tom McNamara intercepted a pass and ran 55 yds. to set up the third touchdown. Wally Boland carried the last 15 yds. Fine blocking by Bruce Franz, Greg Hander and Bill Haskell contributed to the victory.

Key players for the defense were Bob Burrows, Jim Mower, Gerry Fahey and Lou Galbiati. The Packers second team did a first rate job on offense and defense with Bill O'Reilly, Pat Fay, Tim Devlin and Dave Hammerstein performing well.

The Patriots scored their first touchdown in a close game with the Browns during the second quarter. Mark Raye recovered a fumble behind the Browns' goal line and went on to score. Jeff Towne plunged through the line to make the extra point.

The second touchdown was made in the third quarter when Keith Starks threw a pass to Mike Hanlon. John Jolie made the extra point. Tim Caverly and Kevin Carney starred defensively for the Patriots and Vinnie Bruno intercepted a pass late in the game which stopped a Browns drive.

The Ballardvale team scored on a run by Jim Tropeano who also ran for the extra point. Nick Houliouffs, Fred Connors and Bud Watson played good defensive ball for the Browns and Steve Connolly starred for the offense.

Editorial Comment

Inconsistent

Andover is paying its superintendent and assistant superintendent of schools salaries totaling $33,200 annually. Not an inconsequential sum.

Taxpayers may well wonder why, however, when they have just witnessed the action of the School Committee majority in overriding the judgment of these top professionals in our educational system with a vote to include a request for a 400 pupil auditorium in the specifications for the 24-room addition to the West School that was voted by Town Meeting this past summer.

Both Supt. Erickson and Asst. Supt. Clapp told the board that a 300-seat auditorium would be large enough to meet educational needs for the some 900 youngsters that will be housed on the West campus when it is enlarged. But Chairman Galbiati and Committeemen Fitzgerald and Doherty came to the conclusion that the administration was being overly conservative.

It appears logical to avoid at the West complex the sort of multi-purpose cafeteria that the town has built into its smaller elementary schools for, as the administrators pointed out, there would be little time left for educational use of a room that had to be put together and pulled apart for the serving of three shifts every day.

It is difficult also to quarrel with the idea of a 300 seat sloping-floor auditorium which would be suitable for audio-visual presentations as well as large group instruction and assemblies.

But more than this does not make sense.

The town needs a large, centrally located auditorium and it will eventually have to build one in conjunction with the new senior high school. The Town Meeting that chopped the auditorium from the original plans for that building was sticking its head in the sand.

There is not sufficient demand for public meeting rooms, however, to warrant construction of auditoriums in elementary schools that exceed the requirements of the school department.

It seems this should have occurred to a School Committee that just instigated an investigation of school construction costs in Andover. It is the educational specifications, after all that are the biggest single factor in determining the size of the price tag for a new school.

Public Recourse

What is it that the Andover Education Assn. is demanding for the professional teaching staff of our public schools in contract bargaining sessions with members of the School Committee?

Apart from the fact that they want a $6400 minimum, nothing is known.

Neither the School Committee nor the AEA has a right to keep this information from residents of the town, particularly from those who are tax-paying property owners. The public ought to know what is being requested in time to register opinions about what the outcome ought to be before the contract is signed, sealed and delivered.

It is true that the School Committee was elected to represent the public, but it does not have the authority to stand in the way of public discussion of public business.

If there are those on the School Committee who believe otherwise, voters should retaliate at the polls when those who advocate secrecy make a bid for re-election.

A Commendation

The skilled performance of duty by men from Andover's Fire and Police Departments, along with the cooperation of neighbors in Shawsheen Heights, saved the life of young Jeffrey Dimmock Saturday when he was trapped at play in a sand embankment.

Patrolmen Donald Howard and Roger Dufresne of the police department and Lt. Harold Hayes and Firefighters Frank Kolodgy, Arthur Poulin, James Cassidy and Robert Hinckley deserve public commendation for their professional handling of a genuine emergency.

They can be credited with having prevented a tragedy.

Nature's Ways

Ancient Ginkgo Tree Is A Puzzler

By Wayne Hanley

Why the earth's oldest living tree species has no wild relatives seems a mystery.

On any college campus, in many cemeteries and along some streets in New England one may find the ginkgo, sometimes known as the Chinese maidenhair tree. Botanical treatises usually refer to the tree as a native of China or Japan. But the statement is not accurate. What the authors really mean is that the horticultural or cultivated ginkgo trees that we know came from stock imported from that region of Asia. For the truth is that there is not a single wild stand of ginkgo trees growing anywhere in the world today. Nor has there been, apparently, within the memory of mankind.

Were it not for the fact that fossils indicate that the same ginkgo tree we know today was growing in exactly the same way 200 million years ago, one might suppose that Chinese or Japanese gardeners had created the tree from some other species. That is, one might suppose so if he did not understand the physiology of trees. But the structure, and particularly the seed structure, of the ginkgo hints as clearly as the fossil record that it was among nature's early experiments in tree design. Its fan-shaped, pale-green leaves have an odd texture. Its fruit looks like a brown, rotted cherry — but is quite different from a cherry. It is one of the ancient "naked seed" forms, more closely related to the seed of a pine than a cherry.

The finding of fossils lends an extra dimension of mystery to the ginkgo's long history. The fossil leaves and fruits have been found in stone across the Arctic from Alaska to Spitzbergen and as far south as England.

A fossil record a half-a-world away from recent living trees suggests that the ginkgo once had a world-wide dispersion. Ice age glaciers supposedly wiped out all but the Asian remnant of the species.

The real mystery of the ginkgo, however, centers upon why it no longer can be found in the wild. Indeed, in view of the many unusual qualities that fit it for modern living, one must wonder why it failed to recover from the glacier catastrophe as so many other species have.

For instance, the ginkgo not only seems impervious to insects but also resists that even more disastrous destroyer of trees, the fungi. It grows readily from seeds, cuttings, graftings or layering. Its demands are so few that it is considered an ideal city tree. Despite its ancient lineage, it withstands air pollution better than most species.

While the ginkgo does not produce seeds until it is 20 years old, that is not an exceptionally long span to maturity for a tree. Its longevity, however, is exceptional. Many ginkgo trees have continued producing seeds beyond the age of 1000 years.

How trees of such vitality could have failed to maintain themselves in the wild creates a puzzle worthy of serious investigation.

Down The Years With The Townsman

75 Years Ago — October, 1892

B. B. Tuttle moved into the Daniel Abbott house on Elm Street, recently occupied by Charles H. Frye.

There is a fine looking bunch of peanuts on exhibition in the window of H. McLawlin's hardware store. They were raised by Miss Millie S. Abbott, daughter of Richard M. Abbott of Vineland, N.J., formerly of this town.

Frank T. Carleton, H. F. Chase and Charles McDermott have been named to a committee to have charge of forming a battalion which was discussed by the Republican Club last Friday.

The Democratic banner was found to be a little unruly and requires too much care, so an American flag bearing the names of Cleveland and Stevenson, Russell and Carroll and Moses T. Stevens has been raised in its place.

In regard to a new hotel for Elm Square, it is understood that Architect Regan has submitted three sets of plans to the owner, but nothing definite has been decided upon.

The grocery stores of T. A. Holt & Co., Smith & Manning and J. H. Campion & Co. will be closed on Columbus Day, Oct. 21.

50 Years Ago — October, 1917

The Misses Dodge, Hartford, Dunton and Brown, all of the local schools, and Miss C. A. Burt of Malden camped at Haggert's Pond on Columbus Day and the weekend.

Archibald Tyler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tyler of Washington Avenue has enlisted in the commissary department of the Naval Reserves.

Mrs. B. H. Hayes has been elected president of the Andover branch of the Essex County chapter of the Red Cross.

Excerpt from a letter to an Andover gentleman from one of the soldiers at Camp Devens: "If there is any group of men who stand out prominently in this company, it is the men from Andover, and the reason for this is not due to the exceptional abilities of these men, but rather to the members of the Public Safety Committee of Andover who have given untold comfort, not only to the Andover men, but also to all the men in the barracks. . ."

25 Years Ago — October, 1942

Andover collected 187 tons of salvage Sunday, 50 tons over its quota.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hall Jr. and family of Dascomb Road spent the holidays with Mr. Hall's sister at White River Junction, Vt.

told us to be sure to visit Geneva or Berne but they said, "Do not miss Grindelwald", and for the same reason.

I think that we are too prone to confuse strength and utility with appearance. Any kind of shell can be superimposed upon almost any kind of interior. However, too many folks permit themselves to be influenced by the personal proclivities of the architect. Another factor is cost and again the personal view, of the architect makes him state, albeit unwittingly, that the modern is the cheaper. Actually, I have found that the opposite may be true for a particular structure, and can be made so for any structure if the architect really wishes to.

I can say this without any reservation. When we have personal visitors and take them around town, they invariably rave over the buildings which Lincoln Giles has rebuilt, and groan, "What a shame", when they see some of the departures from the style which, perhaps, has been Andover's greatest charm. Sincerely,

Henry Wolfson

GI's Overseas Prefer Something Personal

"Something personal" from the loved ones at home topped the list of Christmas gifts preferred by servicemen overseas, according to a survey just completed by American Red Cross workers serving with U. S. forces around the world.

Family snapshots and portraits, voice tapes, hometown newspapers, and many more letters were the most frequent gift suggestions made by servicemen in Europe, Korea, Japan, Vietnam, and at other military posts overseas. Another timely tip for the folks back home was to use hometown newspapers as packing in holiday parcels to give the serviceman additional enjoyment as he catches up on the latest news from home.

Almost important as the gifts themselves is the need to mail them in sufficient time for delivery before Christmas Day, the Red Cross said. U. S. Post Office deadlines for overseas mailings are Nov. 10, if by surface, or Dec. 10, if by airmail. Many families mail their gifts a week or two in advance of these dates, it was pointed out.

Other gifts high on the list of preferred items included paperback books, magazines, small puzzles and tabletop games, stationery with self-sealing envelopes, brand name articles known as the serviceman's preference, and even extra money for leaves or purchase of small items from foreign countries.

Home-baked foods such as cake or cookies are always welcome, but such perishable gifts are usually not practical gifts for a serviceman in distant tropical areas like Southeast Asia. Individually wrapped hard candy and cookies in metal containers may arrive unspoiled, but even this is not certain.

The Red Cross discovered that the average serviceman likes gifts with a touch of home because they are more personal and meaningful than luxury items which they can often buy themselves for less money in military post exchanges. Family gifts should vary according to a man's military location. Depending on climate, socks, sweaters, and other articles of clothing will be welcome if the serviceman is in an area where he can wear civilian clothes when off duty.

The Red Cross followed closely the expressed wants of American servicemen in its Shop Early program. Chapters and organizations throughout the United States have packed special gift bags with useful personal gifts and shipped them to Vietnam for Christmas holiday season delivery. More than 525,000 were prepared - enough for each serviceman in that country to receive an individual bag. Of these, 2,000 were specially filled with feminine articles for women serving in the armed forces there. Included in the gifts were many and varied popular items such as playing cards, ball-point pens, paperback books, writing paper, tapes for recorded messages, assorted games, and toilet articles.

In A Word . . .

Dope

Today's newspaper readers know, when they see the word "dope" in newspaper headlines, that the story deals with narcotic peddlers or addicts. This wasn't always the meaning of the word however.

In earlier days, the term referred to a thick liquid or grease. That is how it came to be applied to the viscid gum opium. From there, it was only a matter of time before the word became a sort of "generic" designation for all narcotic drugs.

GREATER LAWRENCE

It's no secret. An Ariens Sno-Thro costs less than a snow shovel. It should. It does much more. For one thing, a 2-stage Ariens cuts through after-blizzard drifts quickly, dependably. Takes on any type snow—clears it easily. An Ariens Sno-Thro gives you a feeling of power—a way of putting Old Man Winter in his place. All Ariens Sno-Thros have 4 forward speeds, power reverse, directional discharge chute. The Eze-Start 4 hp, 5 hp, 6 hp and 7 hp engines are winterized for dependable get-up-and-go performance. NEW! LOCKOUT DIFFERENTIAL! Standard on Models 10M-6D, 10M-7D. Available for Models 10M-6 and 10M-5. Why don't you, too, get a lift out of life with a new 1968 Ariens Sno-Thro.

This is a series offered by Family Service Association of Greater Lawrence, affiliated with United Fund of Greater Lawrence. It deals with problems that a great many people bring to counseling agencies to discuss and work out. The professional staff members of Family Service are social workers with graduate degrees and extensive experience in helping people solve problems.

There was a time not so long ago when a child who got into trouble was considered "a bad kid". Then someone coined the phrase "there's no such thing as a bad boy". And someone else followed along who added "only a bad parent".

For quite a while now parents have been getting and accepting a good deal of blame. Family counselors have found that this liberally distributed blame is often enough to take all the fun out of parenthood.

Far from being unconcerned and uncaring, some fathers and mothers become so anxious that they don't dare let their children out of their sight or let them draw an independent breath. Their children's failures are their own failures, and they find it difficult to see the children as persons in their own right.

There is the mother who re-writes all her sons homework papers, or the father who feels that he personally failed because Johnny didn't make the baseball team. There are the parents who look much gloomier than their daughter on those Saturday nights when she doesn't have a date.

Then there are the parents who become so worried about all the potential difficulties that their children might get into that they inadvertently suggest to the child just exactly the kind of behavior they fear. It's the old "don't put beans up your nose" technique, carried into the psychological sphere.

Family counselors know that parents who love their children and have every honest intention of helping them in every way can still find themselves with a youngster who is hard to understand.

If such a child gets into trouble there is usually a good deal of discussion as to who is to blame. Grandma may say: "The trouble is you don't spend enough time with your junior". The neighbor (who has just finished watching the latest installment of "Peyton Place") may say: "The trouble is you are overprotective of your junior". The parent may say to himself: "The trouble is that I was just cut out to be a bad parent". The chances are everybody is wrong.

In any case, family counselors have found that there is little point in shifting the burden of guilt from "the bad kid" to "the bad parent".

Parents of children in trouble are often so burdened with guilt and fear already that they cannot think or act rationally. Since the counselor has no pre-conceived notion of what caused the problem (the neighbor, grandma and the parent probably have), she can help the parents to view the whole situation more objectively and to sort out some of the factors that caused the trouble.

Even children whose parents love them can get into trouble. Counseling can often help such parents to regain their confidence and to cope with the problem at hand.

Memorial Hall Library

Municipal Library Lists Local Best "Sellers"

The most heavily reserved books this week are THE ARRANGEMENT by Kazan; THE CHOSEN by Potok; DEATH AT AN EARLY AGE by Kozol; THE EIGHTH DAY by Thornton Wilder; THE GABRIEL HOUNDS by Mary Stewart; A MODERN PRIEST LOOKS AT HIS OUTDATED CHURCH by Kavanaugh; OUR CROWD by Birmingham; and WASHINGTON, D. C. by Gore Vidal. So if you do not find a copy of these on the shelf, put in a reserve at the circulation desk. You will receive a postcard when it is your turn. When more than five people want a book that is not "in" the library orders additional copies and makes the title a "seven-day book."

Stories & Films

The new season of stories and films for school age boys and girls will start next week with a Halloween program. Miss Elizabeth Russell will be the story teller. No tickets are needed. Just come to the Children's Room at 3:30 on Thursday afternoons, starting Oct. 26.

Amherst Workshop

A. J. Anderson, acting director, attended the library executive development workshop at Amherst between Oct. 17 and 19.

Pre-Schoolers Visit

Two pre-school groups visited the Children's Room at Memorial Hall Library and spent an hour looking at picture books, listening to stories told by Miss Elizabeth Russell and learning about the care of books.

Mrs. Norman Viehmann brought 20 youngsters from the Free Church Coop Pre-School on Oct. 3. They were accompanied by two mothers: Mrs. Thomas Rees and Mrs. Alexander Warren.

On Oct. 4 the North Andover kindergarten group with Mrs. Dorothy Lewis as leader, made their visit accompanied by teachers Miss Carmen Bodge and Mrs. Constance Ferguson.

UN Week

In observance of United Nations week, the Children's room has put out a display of appropriate books on the work with youngsters done by the UN.

The display in the adult department has the work of the UN and the issue of peace as its theme. A circulating collection of books is placed across from the main circulation desk.

Bookings may still be made for filmstrips and two movies about the UN. One movie is "A Grain of Sand," the UNICEF story narrated by Ronald Searle and with a day in the life of a Tunisian boy portrayed. The second film is "Assignment Children," with Danny Kaye visiting Asian children who are suffering from hunger. Danny, however, brings laughter wherever he goes.

The library acknowledges all gifts of books or funds to purchase books, equipment, periodicals and the like with deep thanks. Thanks for the items themselves and the interest of the public in its own public library. A recent gift book is A CENTURY OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALING which is now ready for circulation. Periodically the library receives anonymous gifts of money for the purchase of library materials at the discretion of the librarian. For all such thoughtfulness, thanks also.

at the New England Library Assn., meeting held Oct. 5 in Portsmouth, N. H. Subject of the talk by Mrs. Priscilla Moulton was the Children's Round Table. The RT is made up of children's librarians from all over the state of Massachusetts and is a division of the Massachusetts Library Assn. Mrs. Moulton began her history of the group and its work by telling what is known of how the source material on the early days of the group came to hand. Someone left a suit box of papers, secretary's reports of meetings (unsigned) at the information booth at the Boston Public Library. Here were the long lost records of the early days from 1903 to the 1930's.

Of interest locally is the period in the '30's when Miss Miriam Putnam, recently retired director of Memorial Hall Library was head of the Round Table. During the period of her leadership, she prepared a list of children's books for reading by backward children.

Since then, the preparation of materials for, and medical and psychological study of "backward" children has progressed enormously and is the concern of all who know and work with children.

Dodge Fever! It happens to the best of people and it is happening right now at Manzi Auto Sales, Inc., located at 10 Carver Street at South Broadway and Merrimack Street in Lawrence. The new Dodge cars for '68 feature new styling, luxury and performance. Manzi Dodge has all the new models on display: the Monaco series, Polaras, Coronets, Darts and Chargers. Manzi has 60 or 70 new cars on hand at all times, so you may choose from a large selection of models. If you prefer, you may order your new Dodge to your own specifications. All new Dodge cars carry a five year or 50,000 mile guarantee.

Dodge says there may be better looking cars . . . but not yet; there may be more exciting machines... but not on wheels. And you'll agree when you see the '68 line and succumb to Dodge Fever. Monaco is a car with quiet authority, comfort and unquestioned taste. It is elegant and thorough, and features luxury extras as standard. The Monaco wagon is a car you can take hunting in the morning and drive to the country club at night. The Dodge Dart, America's best-selling compact, has many new styling touches, inside and out, and is proof that you don't have to be rich to cure Dodge Fever. The Dodge Charger, a full-sized fastback, is distinctive and debonair, the kind of car you always wanted, but thought you couldn't afford. The Polaras are surrounded with all new beauty and the Coronets, in hard-top and soft-top models, have an unusually long list of standard items.

Manzi Auto Sales also has a good selection of dependable used cars. Their Service Manager, John Greenwood, has an excellent record of 35 to 40 years in the automotive field. Dodge Certified Car Care starts at the factory where the emphasis is on quality control and is continued by Manzi's fine Service Department.

Stop in soon, Manzi Auto Sales is open Monday through Fridays till nine, Saturdays till five, at 10 Carver Street in Lawrence.
